International Women's Human Rights and Governance

Running on its 20th year, International Women's Human Rights and Governance (IWHRG) is among the longest standing academic-based women's human rights courses offered in the Philippines. The course critically discusses the use of international human rights instruments from a gender and rights perspectives. It focuses on analyzing complex issues of discrimination, inequality and oppression brought about by the intersection of structural and identity factors, such as class, gender, ethnicity, age, sexual orientation, and gender identity among others. Participants are exposed to a diverse and interdisciplinary set of resource-speakers with years of engagement in national and international advocacy work on gender, human rights and governance.

Course fee: Php 12,000

GFE | JUNE 24-28, 2019

Gender Fair Education

Gender Fair Education (GFE) is a foundational course that introduces basic concepts in Gender and Development (GAD). It is designed for educators and development practitioners (i.e. teachers, trainers, module writers, etc.) in formal and non-formal educational settings. The course introduces the human rights and gender based perspectives in schools, communities, and other teaching-learning settings. Topics include education as human rights, gender fair language, gender mainstreaming in the curriculum, and the effective implementation of GAD mandates in educational institutions and development organizations. The training sessions make use of interactive, hands-on approaches to enhance learning-by-doing.

GRPB | JULY 1-4, 2019

Gender Responsive Planning and Budgeting

The Gender and Development (GAD) budgeting process secures financial support for activities promoting gender equality and women's empowerment. Financial support, while necessary, must be complemented by strengthened organizational capacity for successful planning and implementation. The course will introduce the theories and practice of GAD budgeting in the Philippines, in line with PCW-NEDA-DBM Joint Circular No. 2012-01 and PCW-DILG-DBM-NEDA Joint Circular No. 2016-01 on GAD Plans and Budgets and Accomplishments in implementing the Magna Carta of Women. The training approach will use case studies and in depth sharing of participants' experiences to enhance learning.

Course fee: Php 12,000

GSSYW | JULY 8-11, 2019

Gender, Sexuality, and Student-Youth Wellbeing

This new course offering is based on the increasing need to better understand and address the gender-related issues that young people confront in these times. The course is designed to equip teachers, administrators, guidance councilors, community youth organizers, social workers and youth-related organizations, to better support youth wellbeing through a critical understanding of their gender practices. It provides an in-depth appreciation of young people's views of gendered social expectations and their ways of coping. The course is directed at providing participants with a holistic understanding of the support young people need to feel safe and secure regardless of their gender and sexuality. The topics include gender issues of the youth related to mental health, addressing gender discrimination in schools, and creating gender responsive and inclusive social environments for student / youth wellbeing.
